BOY'S DEATH IS SET

State Attorney Makes
Effort To Solve
Mount Tragedy

ACCIDENT CAUSED
FINDING OF BODY

Youth, Playing On Pier, Found Skeleton Of Human Being

(Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, May 4.—Efforts to solve the manner of death of Leighton Mount, Northwestern University freshman in 1921, who disappeared after a class fight and whose skeleton was found Monday under an Evanston pier, today were concentrated in the state's attorney's plan for a judicial investigation to start next Tuesday.

The coroner's inquest was definitely adjourned today after hearing a few witnesses.

While the second session of the inquest was in progress the state's attorney announced that 28 students will be subpoenaed before the grand jury. Some of them already have been questioned.

John Mohr, of the students, at the state's attorney's office today said he knew J. Allen Mills, a former Northwestern student whose present whereabouts are not known. Mills, according to another student with whom the state's attorney talked yesterday, was said to have appeared to be much worried after Mount's disappearance.

Mills was said by William McElwain and Thomas Wolfe to have returned to a fraternity house after the class fight, with his clothing wet. He was reputed to have been a leader of the freshmen crowd involved in the class fight. The state's attorney is desirous of getting in communication with Mills but has been unable to obtain his address.

The coroner heard only five witnesses, chief among them being O. L. Olson, a contractor, and Henry Warren, 12 years old, who found the skeleton.

Olson told of building the pier and of inspecting it in August, 1921, a month before the class fight. There was no hole in the pier planking at that time, he said. The Warren boy told of having been playing ball with his little sister last Monday afternoon and of how he became tired of play and decided to leave her and go to "a secret place." So he went to the pier and climbed through a hole in the pier planking. From the sand and stones under the pier he saw a human bone protruding. Then he observed a skull. It was at the dinner table when Henry refused to eat and his mother became solicitous that he blurted out a question.

"When did Leighton Mount disappear," the boy said, he asked.

Upon being asked why he asked such a question he told his mother there was the skeleton of a man under the pier.

BIRMINGHAM, May 4.—Charlie Mayo was acquitted in criminal division of circuit court several months ago, on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Joe Rose, but a jury on the civil side of the same court today gave Mrs. Jennie Rose, his widow, a verdict against Mayo for $45,833.41 cents damages.

It is the first time on record in Alabama, legal observers declared, that a man has been acquitted on a charge of murder in one division of a court and held technically responsible for his victim's death in another.

Rose was held in February, 1921, and Mayo set up a plea of self defense. Mrs. Rose filed suit for damages.

IDABEL, Okla., May 4.—Jack Pope, a youth and "Red" Harvey, now under arrest, have confessed to implication in the killing of Thomas Hansell, his wife, their daughter, Mrs. Lydia Pope, and the latter's two children at the Hansell home near Howarth, Okla., April 26, last, and have charged John Pope, estranged husband of Mrs. Pope, with responsibility for the crime, according to an announcement made by officers here today.

Jack Pope is a son of John Pope by a former marriage.

"I went to Tom Hansell's place several days before and killed his dog, so it wouldn't make any noise when we went back," Hawey is quoted as saying.

Jack Pope guided the officers to a place near the Hansell home, where three shot guns were found with which it is alleged members of the Hansell family were killed.

County officers declined to make public further details of the alleged confession and are keeping secret the jail where Pope and his son and Harvey are held as a precaution against mob violence.

John Pope is said to have charged that an effort is being made "to get me out of the way to get my property."

Officers, however, believe that fear that he would have to divide his property if his wife sued for divorce, and a desire to realize on insurance policies caused Pope to plan the crime.

The Hansells and Mrs. Pope and the two children were shot to death in their beds at the Hansell home, where Mrs. Pope had gone after separating from her husband.

NEW YORK, May 4.—Geraldine Farrar's divorce suit against Lou Tellegen must be tried before a jury, the appellate division of the supreme court ruled today, in order that Miss Stella Larimer, one of the co-respondents named by the diva, may have an opportunity to clear her name in public.

"When did Leighton Mount disappear," the boy said, he asked.

TOPEKA, Kan., May 4.—A public proclamation, urging a sugar boycott because of prevailing prices, was issued today by Governor J. M. Davis. He advocated that "it be carried out in the spirit of our forefathers or Boston tea party days" and extended his request not alone to the residents of Kansas but to those of the nation as well.

NEW YORK, May 4.—Raw sugar continued to tumble on the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange today and 25,000 women are being marshaled for a protest parade against the high prices of the refined product.

Struck by a flood of selling orders that came in overnight, as the result of yesterday's drop, futures fell 25 to 35 points in the forenoon trading. Operators showed uneasiness and offerings of Cuban cost and freight were made as low as 5-1-2 cents per pound.

The protest parade was scheduled to start from the city hall and to be led by Mrs. Louise Reed Wellzmiiller, deputy commissioner of public markets, who is heading the buyers' strike movement here.

NEW ORLEANS, May 4.—Representative James B. Aswell, Democrat of Louisiana, announced here today that upon the convening of Congress in December he would introduce a bill that "will forever prevent a recurrence of the present scandalous condition of the sugar market" if it is enacted into law.

His bill would handle the sugar problem in the same practical way the government handled the wheat and cotton market situations.

The Albany division of the committee meets at the Morgan County National Bank at 2 o'clock this afternoon when Chairman H. M. Priest expects to present some definite plan to the members of his committee.

Mosquito Swamps

The Morgan County health unit, reinforced by federal health authorities, began an aggressive campaign today against malaria in particular and all diseases in general.

Col. William D. Wrightson is here and will remain in the county for two days before continuing his work in other counties of the Tennessee Valley.

Dr. H. C. McRae, county health officer, and J. M. Holly, county sanitary inspector, will accompany Wrightson on his tour.

County with the definite purpose of destroying disease-producing conditions.

Floods and swamps where the malarial mosquito breeds, will be the chief objects of the campaign.

Swamps will be drained and malarial ponds will be filled in.

From this county Col. Wrightson will go to Colbert, Limestone, Madison, Franklin and other counties, where campaigns are being launched along the same lines as here.

Col. Wrightson will return about June 1.

How To Fight Malaria.

"If pictures will help make plain what we are doing," said Col. Wrightson, "I will make a few mental pictures of what is being done. I will take Limestone county as our last work was done there. But first I want to describe a public meeting or health we had last Thursday night in the courthouse at Athens, and we will be obliged to go back there to repeat the same meeting."

"Although there was a band practice on the steps of the courthouse that night and several church meetings, the health meeting in the courthouse was packed and jammed with people. The electric lights went out on us and when the people asked if we would wait out the delay or adjourn they said eagerly to go on with the lecture. Besides we have had similar meetings at other points in Limestone, at Tanner and other places."

Do Not Only Listen and Look.

"The Limestone people are going strong for good health," continued Col. Wrightson. "They plan and work as well as listen and look at health pictures. Limestone county farmers met our party and asked for a survey. It was late in the day, so I set out early the next day to meet the farmers at a given spot. They had some ponds they wanted drained. I set 7:30 a. m. as the time, thinking if they did not mean business they would not show up that early. The men were not only on hand at the appointed hour but had cleared a space 200 yards long and had begun to dig the ditch I had suggested."

"Another case was a pond on the Louisville & Nashville right of way. By a co-operative effort this pond was drained in a short time. I laid off a number of drain projects in Limestone and the property owners went right to work. I understand the city of Athens has purchased a large supply of sanitary fixtures here in the Twin Cities," said Col. Wrightson.

Madison County in First Rank.

"Some idea of the drainage work being done in Madison county," said Col. Wrightson, "can be gained when it is known that on one project alone 11,900 feet of drain pipe have lately been put in. The home demonstration agents and farm agents, as well as health units, are all co-operating with the federal authorities in draining the county from end to end. I know of one ditch eight miles long."

Miss Helen Higdon of Albany, is credited by newspapers with having the best out-of-town exhibits of work at the annual exhibition of the Alabama artists, now being held in Birmingham under the auspices of the Art League there.

The best work from out of town is a group of little water colors by Miss Helen Higdon of Albany, including studies of a little negro boy with a banjo; of a little flaxen-haired girl; and two views of still life.

The drawing is excellent, and the coloring brilliant. She has also a fine study in red chalk.

Miss Maggie Young of Moulton has a pleasing study of chrysanthemums and Mrs. R. H. Robinson of Anniston, two excellent landscapes.

In addition to the pictures there is an exhibition of china painting and a very beautiful and elaborate piece of batik, done by Miss Wilke Allen.

GIVE, GIVE, GIVE.

J. B. Cassels and D. D. Burleson of Albany-Decatur, were in the City Wednesday calling on our business men for aid for the Benevolent Hospital in Albany.

The following men were named to solicit funds: Dr. W. M. Booth, John L. Houston, S. L. Sherill and J. T. Cooper.

The Benevolent Hospital has been a great blessing, not only to the people of Albany-Decatur but all of North Alabama. It is like all hospitals, a great deal of charitable work has to be done, and we understand it has more than done its share.

When the committee calls on you give to this needy institution and give liberally. Remember when you leave here you can't carry anything with you and you will not pass this way again. It is up to us to help the sick and distressed. Now is the time to show your liberality.

We will publish the names of the donors and amounts each one pays.

MRS. STOKES FIGHTS
HUSBAND'S CHARGES

(Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, May 4.—A plea has been made by Mrs. W. E. D. Stokes, wife of the wealthy New York hotel proprietor, for the court to grant her an expense account of $3,500 that she may take Nell Rose Miller, negro, to New York. Mrs. Stokes says she wants to deny personally charges made here yesterday by the Miller woman in a deposition taken in connection with a rehearing of the divorce action instituted by Mr. Stokes.

The woman, formerly a waiter in a New York tea room, before Julia Cryer, testified she had served lunch to Mrs. Stokes and Edgar C. Wallace in the latter's apartment over the tea room. Mrs. Stokes, the waiter testified, often opened the door to admit her, clad only in flimsy garments. Two pictures of Mrs. Stokes were identified by the witness but when Isadore Shapiro, attorney for Mrs. Stokes, handed her 40 photographs, some of the wealthy hotel man's wife, the woman became confused and declined to identify any of them.

Mrs. Stokes did not appear at the hearing.

NEW YORK, May 4.—W. E. D. Stokes, wealthy hotel man and realty operator, today lost in the appellate division of the supreme court, his right to be permitted to amend the petition in his divorce suit against his wife, Helen Ellwood Stokes, so that he could name additional co-respondents, evidence concerning whom he claims to have been discovered recently.

The court, however, reversed a decision by Supreme Court Justice Guy increasing Mrs. Stokes' alimony pending trial from $18,000 to $30,000.

WE FAVOR ACCEPTANCE OF HENRY FORD'S BID FOR MUSCLE SHOALS,

ONE OF THE LAST OF THE CIVIL WAR STATESMEN GONE.

The Senate is poorer and the nation is poorer since the death of Senator Knute Nelson. He spent 28 years in the United States Senate, but in all that time no hint of scandal has attached to his name. He passed away regarded by all as an honest man. Had the Norwegian immigrant been dishonest in the least, it would have been found out on him sooner or later during his long career. The rugged civil war veteran choose to keep his own personality and his own sense of honor at any cost. The career of Senator Nelson is a splendid illustration of what an opportunity this country offers. He was without a cent of money or a single friend of influence when he began his long career. He rose to prominence, and found his place in the esteem of his fellow men by the forces of character and mental ability only. Just as this country gave Nelson an opportunity, every other man has his chance. It may be a hard chance it is true but all have a chance. In exchange for the opportunity this nation gave Nelson, he furnished a high grade of service. Always when good service is given for opportunity, there is a fair exchange. There are doubtless cases where good service fails of opportunity, but this is rare; and poor service is often given where fair opportunity is offered; but in the case of Senator Nelson service and opportunity went hand in hand.

CHARITY BEGINS AT HOME.

While the Benevolent Society Hospital interests must be looked after and taken care of first, the Cottage Home Infirmary, a negro institution located in our midst, comes to our whole community asking aid. It is the part of high minded philanthropy to contribute a sum to its support. The institution is one of the oldest of its kind in the Tennessee Valley and it has a good record for services rendered. It is the only refuge in this section for the negroes who may become ill, wounded and helpless. The physicians who are giving freely of their services for the relief of suffering and who have taken an especial interest in the work of the Cottage Home Infirmary, state that the negroes appreciate their hospital and are doing all they can in their limited way for its support. What they lack should be supplied by the able generous white people of the community. Dr. Greer states that if the institution is tided over this time, there is every reason that it will become self supporting in the course of a few months.

MR. MENCKEN IS A LONG WAY OFF.

In his denunciation of President Harding and the American government a Mr. Henry L. Mencken writing in the London Outlook is a long way from the truth and far distant from common decency. He says, according to London dispatches, that ours is a worse government than a monarchy, and that President Harding is at the foot of the list among the world rulers of today. He declares that Mr. Harding is "a very ignorant man" and "pretty well purged of self respect."

The writer in question draws a very long bow in attempting to attack a man clear across the Atlantic ocean, to say nothing of his bad taste and disgusting egotism. There is entirely too much for all men to know for any one of them to call one of his brother men "ignorant," much less when the man attacked to the President of the United States.

It has been suggested that the reason Mr. Methuselah lived to be 969; it took that long for the people to learn to spell and pronounce his name correctly.

THE DAILY IS A "HERALD" ALL RIGHT.

The following appears in a recent issue of the Birmingham Age-Herald:

More ways Than One (Albany-Decatur Herald)

There is no need of war as a bravery developer as long as so many have to brave the danger of death from automobiles daily, hourly and minutely.

The Magic city morning paper through an oversight it will be noticed calls the Daily, a Herald, and in so doing makes no mistake, for it is a Herald in that the Albany-Decatur Daily seeks to proclaim to the world many advantages and virtues of the Twin Cities.

BLIGHTED TROTHS.

In the general unsettling of world conditions no state has escaped revolution—not even the state of matrimony. A troth plighted before the authorities of New York, California, or Illinois may be blighted by the officials of Indiana. The Rodolph Valentino—so much in the toils of law courts lately—has discovered to his infinite puzzlement and annoyance. His domestic arrangements, harmless and even commendable in one state, have become the simple act of crossing an imaginary boundary, shameful and iniquitous. The drama of this situation escapes him. If he could enter lightly into the gentle farce which our legislature bodies have made of marriage he might easily carry off this new burden with a certain charm. But as he has made his fame by his gift for intensity of feeling, Valentino inappropriately takes passion as his cue. Furrowing their brows with rage both he and his (in certain states) wife storm and call names at their "oppressors."

There begins to be nearly as much red tape connected with the recognition of the union of a pair of moving picture actors as there is in the recognition of a new republic. In past cases it has sometimes required a half dozen law suits to establish the legality and holiness of a marriage. This condition is perhaps not altogether undesirable. The people of the films have had a tendency to enter into compacts of this kind with too little consideration. It may be sobering to them to reflect on the amount of annoyance they will have to undergo to legalize what may prove to be only a frivolous impulse. A woman who would accepted a proposal involving a single ceremony might be persuaded to reflect before answering: "Yes, I will marry you 48 times"—St. Paul Pioneer-Press.

STATE BRIEFS

(Associated Press.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 4.—For the first time in the history of the Alabama capital, the daily papers have organized baseball teams and challenged the other for a game. The Journal and the Advertiser play the first game Sunday in Cramton Bowl.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 4.—Among the men in baseball "unions" cavorting on big league fields today several of them have played in the past with the Birmingham club of the Southern league.

Some of them who have been in the service of the Barons and who are now in the majors are:

Southworth, captain and outfielder of the Boston Nationals; Traynor of the Pittsburgh Pirates; Gooch of Pittsburgh; Duncan of Cincinnati; Morrison of Pittsburgh; Grimes of Brooklyn; Glander of Pittsburgh; Peters of the Philadelphia Nationals; Summa of the Cleveland Indians; Barnhart of Pittsburgh.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., May 4.—The University of Alabama has been called the baseball university of the world and some have suggested that the institution give a B. B. (baseball) degree. Of course they were joking but Alabama's fame has spread far and wide because of the baseball players the school has sent to the major league diamonds, many of them straight from college.

Among the men now playing in major league stables who started their career at the Alabama University are J. Sewell of Cleveland; L. Sewell of Cleveland; Stephenson of Cleveland; D. Pratt of Detroit; D. Boone of Cleveland. Others who have seen service in the majors but are not in the regular line up are Lena Styles, Francis Pratt and Ike Boone.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 4.—Alabama colleges will meet two intersectional foes of the east on eastern soil next fall in football. Auburn goes to West Point, N. Y., to play the army while Alabama plays Syracuse in New York also.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 4.—The annual convention of the Alabama League of Women Voters will be held in Montgomery May 22, 23 and 24 at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium and delegates from practically every county in the state will be present.

There will be a full report of the national convention which was recently held in Des Moines, Ia., and duplicate work in miniature form will be given at the Alabama convention. Mrs. Charles R. Bricken, state president of the League of Women Voters attended the convention and will give an account of what transpired.

Four subjects of vital importance will be taken up. First, "Women in industry and their need of limitation of hours."

Miss Mollie Dowd of Birmingham, state chairman of this department, is working along this line and at the coming legislature in July at bill to this effect will be introduced.

Miss Mary V. Robinson of the national bureau in Washington will be a visitor on this occasion and will tell of the situation facing the laboring women.

"International Co-operation for Peace" is another subject to be discussed, by Miss Ruth Morgan of New York.

"Law Enforcement and the Alabama Prison System" will be discussed in all its phases. Mrs. Elliott Cheatham, of Atlanta, woman lawyer, will make this a warm subject.

NEW YORK COLORSCOPES

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

Mary Margaret McBride

New York City—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, the great advocate of spiritualism, is at his favorite New York hotel with fresh proof of ectoplasm and life after death. I only wish he might have the convincing setting for expounding his theories that his own beautiful country place in Sussex, England, affords.

I spent a day with Sir Arthur and Lady Doyle at their home last summer. After lunch, which consisted of several helpings, (for Sir Arthur, anyway), of meat pie, vegetables and pudding, Lady Doyle and I sat before a blazing fire in the cozy, book-lined study, while the author, a ruddy, country-bred man in shabby, friendly tweeds and golf stockings, stood on the hearth rug and talked on his favorite theme. We were just discussing in the most casual way fairies and the likelihood of there being yachting in Heaven, when suddenly the door was pushed open and Denis, one of the Doyle boys, came in.

Another asked him what he had been doing. "He told her quite happily that Kingsley had been playing football with him in the garden."

Kingsley is Sir Arthur's oldest son who was killed during the war. "He often comes to us in the garden," Denis assured me earnestly.

In the shadow of Brooklyn Bridge stands the queerest inn in the world. It's the lower floor of a tenement, run by a bearded man wearing a red bandana and a piratical glare, and its over-night lodgers are hurdy-gurdies—most of those that play on New York streets all day.

Just at sunset, a medley of wheezy grinding rises above the clamor of the bridge and a strange procession rounds the corner—the hurdy-gurdies are being brought home by their owners. Blind men, lame men and men whose only disability is age, few most of them, but occasionally a be-shawled Italian woman trudges along with the others. School children, dancing happily to the beloved "Three O'clock in the Morning," bring up the rear of the procession and linger curiously while the owners have a concert for themselves, trying out old opera favorites or new popular bits like "Fancy Nancy Clancy," "Peggy Dear," or "You've Got to See Mama Every Night or You Can't See Mama at All," before tucking their treasures tenderly into their nests.

Beside the towered Municipal Building that stands guard over the big city's administrative activities, there's a street travelled daily by hundreds of luxurious limousines, Wall-street-bound with cargoes of correctly-clad bankers and brokers. This morning my friend the traffic cop, whose amiable Irish smile during the year reaps a large harvest of yellow-backed bills from the financiers, pointed out the shiniest and most imposing car of all, presided over by two sober-livered and pompous chauffeurs. "Look at it," he bade me, "J. P. Morgan's! See that back—ever since the Wall street explosion, it's been made of bullet-proof steel. Bolsheviki insurance!"

You don't know by the sound whether it's the zoo or a music store these days. "Have you 'Snakes Flips'?" the inclined-to-be-gay young man asks the sales girl, busy with a pile of "Hot Lips." "No," she answers him smartly. "But I have a fresh supply of 'Bees Knees.' Like some of those?" And naturally he would, for whether the jungle note in slang has encouraged the circus in music or vice versa, or whether it's only another manifestation of this interesting younger generation, the best sellers in popular songland just now bear animal-slang titles.

In subway and street, you come upon them, lips moving, eyes vacant, talking to themselves. They are not crazy, only lonesome. They have come here from Nebraska and Missouri, Nevada and Seattle to make their fortunes. Some are young, some older. They had no friends in New York at the start and somehow they haven't got acquainted as quickly as they thought they would. Homesick, discouraged, they have nobody to whom they may confide their troubles, so they begin to talk to themselves. Dr. John Benson, pastor of Union Church, says there literally are thousands of them. He has opened a soul clinic for their benefit and invited them to use him for a safety valve. Also he has organized a Lonesome Club where they may meet friendly folk.

Mrs. Janet Singh, New York woman who started her artistic career painting funny faces on balloons, is now exhibiting to friends some vari-colored heads on boards that she says she "thought" into existence.

"I sat looking at the floor and the faces began to appear," Mrs. Singh explains. "The more I sat and looked and thought, the clearer they became. At first I was the only person who could see them, but I sat and thought and looked some more and presently they were visible to everybody!"

Mrs. Singh wouldn't tell where this weird painting occurred because she admitted that she saw her pictures right out of the floor and she was afraid the owner of the house might prove unartistic enough to object.

SERVICES ARE HELD AT SHOP AT NOON

The Louisville & Nashville shopmen at noon today heard the last of the discourses by leaders of the Central Methodist and the Central Baptist revivals, and heard for the last time during this series of meetings the visiting singers, Albert Cunningham and J. Fred Scholfield.

The sermon for the Central Methodist revival workers was preached today by Dr. G. T. Harris, pastor of the Central Methodist church while Dr. James E. Dillard of Birmingham was the speaker for the Central Baptist revival workers. Quite a large number of local church workers accompanied the preachers and singers to the shops today, including B. B. Pickens, Mrs. H. O. Troup, Mrs. D. D. Gibson and other active members of the two choirs.

The clouds of the early morning had cleared away by noon time today and the sunshine appeared bringing a cheerful feeling to the singers, the preachers and the listeners. Men turned out in large numbers as has been their custom during the past ten days, to hear the sermons, prayers and songs of the visiting religious workers.

In his address Dr. Dillard, who spoke at the large car shed today, impressed many of the Bible truths he had previously referred to in his shop addresses.

Dr. Harris took as his text Moses' words to Jehiro, his father-in-law: "Come with us and we will do thee good."

The speaker impressed three points, the benefits, the service, and the fellowship of the church of Christ.

The services were conducted under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

What is a 'Mare's Nest'?

Certainly "mare" in this case has nothing to do with the horse. It is a corruption of "myra" a malevolent demon who according to tradition, possessed a nest filled with wonderful jewels and gold.

DILLARD WILL END VISIT HERE TONIGHT

The special series of meetings, now in progress at the Central Baptist Church, will not close until Sunday night, but Dr. James E. Dillard will preach his last sermon during his present visit to the Twin Cities tonight when his announced subject is "Hash."

No intimation has been given as to what disposition the minister will make of his unique subject but so sure are many that Dr. Dillard will have something rich for his hearers that a large crowd is expected tonight.

The song service will be led by J. Fred Schofield, who last night sang the famous hymn, "Roll Billows Roll," as composed by one of the singers' brothers. It is probable Mr. Schofield will sing that song tonight, it is said.

The song service as led by Mr. Schofield and the two organized choirs, has increased interest as the meeting has progressed.

"Religion is not a cold fact," said Dr. Dillard, in the course of his sermon last night. The text, St. James 1:27, "Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father in this, to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction and to keep himself unstained from the world," was used.

The speaker said that just as religion is not a cold fact, neither is it emotion altogether, and added that religion was more than fact or emotion. It was taught that religion is known only by experience, and that it is seen best in the acts of those who truly profess it.

"Philosophy has never discovered a truth without the aid of religious teaching," said the speaker. "Great truths are felt out not thought out. The acid test of the Christian is his application of the teachings of Christ. We do not need greater numbers of church members but more of the genuine Christian article. His word tells us to fear God, if we are in the wrong, but the same word tells us to rejoice and be glad if we are obeying God's commands."

It's the Turnover That Counts.
"Knowledge means success only when it is applied," says the American Druggist, "and the man who turns over frequently what little he knows gets ahead of one who has an abundance of dead stock."—Boston Evening Transcript.

Among the Well-Bred.
Among well-bred people, a mutual deference is affected; contempt of others disguised; authority concealed; attention given each to his turn; and an easy stream of conversation is maintained, without vulgarity, without interruption, without eagerness for victory, and without any air of superiority.—Hugues.

Wisdom.
Wisdom of the heart, which, having no concern with the erection or demolition of theories any more than with the defense of prejudices, has no random words at its command. The words it pronounces have the value of acts of integrity, tolerance, and compassion.—Joseph Conrad.

What Makes the "Grain" in Wood?
A tree grows upwards and its wood is a collection of millions of living "cells." Each year new cells form around the tree, hardening into a cylinder, and if cut we see straight lines, these lines form the "grain."

Darwinism.
Darwinism is the doctrine that later species or forms of animals and plants have been developed out of earlier ones by a process of natural selection, supplemented in some cases by sexual selection. It was advocated by Charles Darwin (1809-1882), especially in his "Origin of Species," and "The Descent of Man."

FELT TIRED, SO TIRED

Indiana Lady Says She Was Run-Down, Suffered With Her Back, Took Cardui, and Got Well.

Richmond, Ind.—"I thought I would write a line or so, to say that I owe my good health and strength to Cardui," says a letter from Mrs. Cora Courtney, 31 Railroad Street, this city.
"I was all run-down until my family thought they would lose me," writes Mrs. Courtney. "My husband coaxed me to take Cardui, so, to please him, I did, and will say I do not regret it, for I am able to do all my work and do my shopping."
"I have five children, four in school, my husband and a boarder to do for, and I do all my own work for all of us, and find time to play. We all praise Cardui. Every sick and run-down woman should take this wonderful medicine."
"I suffered with my back; a very weak feeling in my limbs."
"I felt hardly able to drag; just tired—so tired all the time."
"It was an effort for me to do anything, but Cardui helped me so I feel like a different woman."
If you are in a run-down physical condition, suffering as this Indiana lady says, take Cardui. Give Cardui a fair trial. It should help you.

RAIN FAILS TO KEEP THE CROWDS AWAY

Though the weather was threatening and bad, the Central Methodist revival witnessed one of the best evening services of the week Thursday night. Evangelist Coale spoke on "Excuses the sinner makes for not becoming a Christian."

There is no reason, said the evangelist, why every person may not be a Christian. God has done all He can so far as His part is concerned. The only reason lies upon the part of man.

One by one the speaker took up the most common excuses men make that hold them back from the Christian life. In no service has the speaker been more happy in his use of stories to illustrate his sermon than in this one. With telling effect he illustrated the doctrine of election by the old dicker who said that God voted and the devil voted to elect man, but the vote that elected him was his own.

Nearly one hundred young people gathered in the young people's service at 7 o'clock. Much interest is being shown by the young people in the work of the week. Mr. Cunningham is proving himself a master in young people's work as well as a choir director and a soloist. The male quartet delighted the congregation with a number at the evening hour.

At the close of the evening service the pastor received a class into the church. Each day marks a new interest. At the noon hour the pastor and Mr. Cunningham spent each day to the men at the club day. Many men have shown interest in the work of a desire for a new life.

Tonight will be high school night. A large congregation is expected to crowd the building for this service.

Poor's Words of Wisdom.
Lead not beyond the ability for the task to lead out of thy ability; especially when it will help others more than it can hurt thee. If thy ability be honest and simple, then thou art a good man. If thy ability be dishonest and cunning, then thou art a bad man. If thy ability be not true, then thou art a liar. If thy ability be not just, then thou art a thief. If thy ability be not pure, then thou art a hypocrite. If thy ability be not true, then thou art a liar. If thy ability be not just, then thou art a thief. If thy ability be not pure, then thou art a hypocrite.

Long Life.
"I am diagnosed and cured," said the chronic sufferer from rheumatism. The doctor had said to be "cured" by the use of the "Kozol" medicine. The sufferer had been in bed for months, and now he was up and about, and his health was as good as new. He was strong and active, and he was sending your things by express to be delivered.

A Remarkable Case.
At a New York hospital, a friend of the editor, who was closely connected with the case, when it was over he said to me: "A happy man and wife, and a fine child. I had no idea that the child was so healthy. The mother was strong and active, and she was sending your things by express to be delivered."

WRITES A WOMAN WHO HAS

JUST DISCOVERED KOZOL
"We always keep some simple remedy on hand for the occasional pain which will appear even in a household as healthy as ours. But different members of the family complained that they could not tolerate such pain removers as aspirin and phenacetin."
"Now we have a new favorite in the medicine chest, Kozol. I understand that it is a new remedy and I welcome it with enthusiasm. It is always sure to help. And since we have been using it I hear no more of heart depression and nausea after a pain has been removed."
"We use Kozol for almost any kind of pain, for everything up colds and lowering fevers."

Cheerful letters, full of gratitude, are pouring into the Kozol Laboratories in a constant stream. Kozol is being used extensively in great hospitals, where the discovery has been made that it is quicker and more certain than other treatments.

Camp in Everglades
Fed by airplane.

Hewing their way through almost impenetrable cypress forests and swamps, plowing through soft mud and being hauled by a tractor, a party of 25 men and women, in seven automobiles, recently attempted to blaze a trail through the hitherto unexplored Everglades of Florida, to connect Tampa and Miami. Deserted by their superstitious Seminole guides, the party was in dire straits for days, unable to advance or retreat, and without food or water. Explorers broke through on foot and told their pitiful story. Airplanes were sent out and found the party 40 miles from Miami. All had to go to hospitals suffering from mosquito and chigger bites.

American Red Cross Starts Campaign to Diminish Water Tragedies in U. S.

Upper—The crack Jacksonville, Fla., Red Cross Life-Saving Corps which has many recruits to its credit. Center (standing) is Commodore W. E. Longfellow, national field agent of the corps.
Lower—Red Cross Life-Saving experts at Long Pond, Plymouth, Mass., giving instruction in modern methods of resuscitation of persons rescued from the water.

WITH the swimming and boating season already starting up in some sections of the country, the American Red Cross, through its Life-Saving Corps, is inaugurating an intensive campaign to lower the appalling loss of life in the United States through drowning. Statistics it has compiled show that in 1921, 6,489 men, women and children died in the waters of the United States through accidents, while during the last ten years the total of such deaths has reached almost 60,000.

The means by which the Red Cross will carry on its fight against water accidents will be extension of the Life-Saving instruction it provides through its own experts or fosters through community Life-Saving campaigns. Already 439 Red Cross Chapters in continental United States are providing Life-Saving instruction, and it is purpose to greatly increase the number.

In particular will the Red Cross strive to reach the children. Of the more than 27,000 certificated Life-Savers enrolled in the Red Cross Life-Saving Corps, 10,000 are Juniors and a quota of 21,000 additional Junior Life-Savers has been set.

In addition to instruction provided through its Chapters, the Red Cross will conduct two large Life-Saving Institutes for the instruction of those in charge of boys' and girls' summer camps and others. These institutes will be held at Long Pond, Plymouth, Mass., and Lake Geneva, Wis., not far from Chicago.

In a message to the Chapters, Judge John Barton Payne, Chairman of the American Red Cross, says:

"Too many preventable drownings occur annually. The total of 63,429 during the ten years ended with 1921 is appalling. The Red Cross is exercising one of its charter functions along lines of intense practicality in the campaign of Life-Saving which it has inaugurated, and I invoke the hearty aid of Chapter workers in carrying it to a successful conclusion."
